

RICH AND PAM CONNELL'S GARDEN

Rich and Pam Connell have been collecting daylilies for only three years. During that time, they have amassed a collection of 246 cultivars including 80 doubles. They became interested in daylilies while walking around the Cooper Ridge neighborhood. They saw Jeff Kerr's garden on Shady Ridge Drive and wanted to know more. Jeff and Bill Johannes helped them get started. Their favorite daylilies are, of course, double daylilies. They also have a nice collection of gladiolas, true lilies and many other companion plants. However, as the daylily collection grows, the room for companion plants is diminishing.

Rich and Pam do not usually sell plants but are always willing to trade
